HARDING TAKES STEPS TO UNITE WORLD IN PEACE

HAS MUCH BACKING IN PLAN FOR CONTINUED CONFERENCE

NOT LIKE LEAGUE

New Order of Things Will Not be to Enforce Only Versailles Treaty.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
Copyright 1921, by Jansville Gazette.

Washington.—President Harding has taken informally the first step toward the perpetuation of the idea of international conference as developed by the meeting of the present conference for the limitation of armaments.

Mr. Harding is sounding the power of his plan. It is not a league of nations nor an extension of the league of nations in the sense that the Versailles treaty created an international body.

Such rules and regulations or obligations as the covenant of the league provided for in Mr. Harding's mind but he does not intend to develop a sequel to the first and second Hague conferences of 1899 and 1907 which may benefit by the experience of those international gatherings and bring about a general get-together meeting of nations at frequent intervals.

The president has about him men like Elihu Root, who are familiar with the Hague conferences and how to avoid the pitfalls of those meetings. One trouble was that the initiative in calling the conferences was left to an individual.

Section 10 Machinery.
Mr. Harding's first improvement upon the original Hague conference was the setting up of a machinery for the calling of the conferences. Here at Washington that point will be discussed and it is intended that the power be laid before the power for Mr. Harding's idea is that the conference shall make its own rules when it meets, shall frame its own program and take action as individuals.

Disregarded Rules.
It is more than a coincidence perhaps that the first Hague conference was called for the very purpose of limiting armaments but Germany was unwilling to agree to a reduction or limitation. The first Hague conference of 1899 was more or less experimental, only twenty-six governments being represented. The second conference in 1907 found forty-four states represented, and definite rules of international law were drafted up which unfortunately were disregarded by many of these powers when the war of 1914 broke out.

Far from attempting to create a new order of things, Mr. Harding is simply taking the steps to make the world a better place to live in.

AUSTRIAN YOUTH SEEKS CHRISTMAS GIFTS FROM U. S.

Praying for food or money to assure a happy Christmas, a letter stating that conditions in Austria are deplorable, has been received by Gerald Lyko, 1002 Hickory street, this city. Mr. Lyko was sent the letter in the course of correspondence with an international stamp gathering association. He is offered postage stamps in return. The letter, from Vienna, follows:

"Being a poor student now studying in Vienna, town that is suffering much in want of food, I venture to solicit a great favor from your kindness. Personally unknown to you, but trusting to your kind and charitable feelings, I most humbly beg you to make me a Christmas gift by sending me a food parcel, or if preferable, in a registered letter, one bank note of your happy, rich country."

"We are in great need of food in Austria. Our money does us no good, being without any value. In return I am willing to send you at request postage stamps, cards, pictures, etc. My gratitude for your kindness is only too keenly felt by the profound regard with which I have the honor to be, Sir, your most obedient servant."

League Is International.
The feeling among the president's advisers is that the league of nations should be perpetuated for the benefit of Europe but that its influence will always be regional while the calling of a conference as a sequel to the Hague conference will be world-wide and absolutely divorced from any particular group of nations or their interests.

Some critics of the League of Nations in the present administration contend that it tried to accomplish too much. Particular emphasis was laid on the fact that the administration quarters on the language of Elihu Root when he submitted to the Senate the Hague convention of 1907. He said:

"The most illustrious result of the conference of 1899 was that it made the work of its predecessor as a point possible. The achievements of the two conferences justify the belief that the world has entered upon an orderly process through which, step by step, in successive conferences, each taking the work of its predecessor as a point of departure, there may be continued progress toward making the practice of civilized nations conform to their peaceful professions."

The president is represented as anxious to take up the task of international cooperation where it was broken in 1914. Now that Germany has been disarmed, no objection is anticipated from that quarter. Indeed, Mr. Harding wants Germany to be invited to the next conference. The president feels, moreover, that when the question of armaments is settled in Washington, the main obstacle to international cooperation will have been removed.

"Get Together Meetings."
Secretary Hughes in his opening address recalled pointedly the efforts of the emperor of Russia in connection with the first Hague conference, and the successful outcome of that conference. He said that the United States government will take the leadership in bringing about not an international legislative body, as an upper and lower house to the council and the assembly of the league, but simply international conferences which shall be in the nature of "get together" meetings, among the nations of the earth.

WILLETTA SOBS AT JASTROW CHARGES

Story of Professor That She Has Sight, Hearing, Reaches Her.

Professor Jastrow's declaration that Willetta Huggins, the "traveling student" of the State School for the Blind here, is a "fake" have reached the ears of the little girl.

"I know what they think of me now," she moans. All one night, she tossed in her bed at the institution. Tears streamed down her cheeks.

Meanwhile the pathway to the great brick home south of the city is becoming beaten with many steps. Newspaper men and the mail messengers making many visits. The center of the city is a "hot" place. It is a registered letter, one bank note of your happy, rich country.

"We are in great need of food in Austria. Our money does us no good, being without any value. In return I am willing to send you at request postage stamps, cards, pictures, etc. My gratitude for your kindness is only too keenly felt by the profound regard with which I have the honor to be, Sir, your most obedient servant."

MERE MAN IS DAZED BY COUNTY DISPLAY OF BABY GARMENTS

There were tucks, dainty blue ribbons and "that stuff" which women sit by the hour and do with needles.

Down in the corner of the box yesterday, a man who couldn't prove it by the county clerk, county treasurer or even Oscar Nelson, clerk of the county court, let alone the news hound.

Miss Anna Luetscher is obtaining baby garments from domestic science classes in high schools of the county to be used in home and school demonstrations, and to be given to needy families. The first box came from the Milton and 35th Junction schools.

"The outfit is complete and very good," commented the county nurse. "The garments are well made, of fine workmanship and material."

"We'll take your word for it," agreed the man looking over the collection of fluff garments, from the long "things" to the limited slippers tied with ribbon.

WATERTOWN FARMERS SHIP TWO CARLOADS OF STOCK TO MEXICO
Two carloads of Holstein cattle purchased from near Watertown have been shipped to Mexico to be distributed among Mexican farmers, rapidly developing the dairy industry there. The cattle were selected by George Gresham. Good cattle were obtained at prices acceptable to the Southern Wisconsin breeders. The buyer reported great prospects for improved cattle breeding in Mexico.

GARAGE MEN LEASE DOHENY BUILDING
With the Bower City Implement company moving to the building formerly used as the Samson engineering plant on East Milwaukee street, the property owned by Phil Doheny on Court street has been leased to Fred Turner and Paul Murphy, both of Jansville.

Mr. Turner who has operated a garage on South Bluff street for a number of years, will take a part of the Court street property for general automobile repairs and accessories. Mr. Murphy will use the other part for the sale of new and used cars.

The Samson building leased for a long period by the Bower City Implement company has been remodeled. It is expected the implement company will be in the new quarters by December 5.

"DANGER" SIGN OUT AT POST-OFFICE

Traveling Man Bumps Into Gun Entering Place at Night.

If a person values his life, he wants to provide himself with a body guard and be heavily insured before entering the back door of the Jansville post-office. A traveling man thinking to hasten the dispatch of his mail one night last week entered the back door of the post-office and was presently facing the wicked end of a .45 calibre automatic revolver.

"Safety" is the slogan in the mail service at the present time. Postmaster J. J. Cunningham says the matter is going to be carried out at the local postoffice, said Mr. Cunningham.

Interference with and theft of mails is going to stop. Postmaster General Will Hays declares and the orders are going to be carried out at the local postoffice, said Mr. Cunningham.

Service is not to be curtailed in any respect. The main entrance of the Jansville postoffice is open from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. Even after business hours, when the window is closed, in necessary cases, a clerk of the clock may be called from the lobby and service be given at any hour. Unless the case is urgent, it is not advisable naturally to detract the clerk's attention from his business but reasonable service will be given to patrons, whether resident or transients.

KISSING O. K., SAYS STUDENT Y. M. C. A. TO EVANSTON MAIDENS

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Chicago.—Members of Northwest-ern university branch of the Y. W. C. A. have undertaken the tutelage of grade school girls of Evanston, in deportment, and the following are among the rules laid down Monday, after the first meeting of the clubs in the Washington school:

"When you arrive at the kitchen and get to like a boy's associate, you may kiss him, but don't believe it is required that you exchange kisses for every automobile ride."

"When some boy wishes to make an engagement with you and you don't care to accompany him or to have him call, just flatly say so."

"Don't estimate the desirability of a boy's association by the creases in his trousers."

"A certain amount of rouge and powder is necessary. But don't do your make-up so that it's obvious."

"Don't suppress your emotions, but guide them."

Recital at Cathedral—The first private musical recital held in the city this year, and one of the most interesting held in many years, was given at the Norman L. Carle home, St. Lawrence avenue, Saturday night, more than 175 invited guests, all appearing, were Miss Ruth Bradley, pianist and Joel Lay, baritone, Chicago.

Miss Bradley played with remarkable smoothness and clear diction, and wonderful pianistic dexterity. Among her numbers was the "Polonaise," in which an individuality of interpretation is shown to a great degree. Miss Lay gave a varied and interesting program. Her singing with remarkable musical feeling and taste. Her group of English songs was especially beautiful, showing a clear, strong voice of great depth and richness, of fine quality, even and showing the schooling it had received. Miss Lay has studied under Joel Lay, and Miss Bradley has recently returned from Europe, where she was a pupil of Coriot and Lucien.

Both artists responded with enthusiasm to the great amount of applause. The affair, which was sponsored by Mrs. Mack Bostwick and Miss Josephine P. Carle, and credit for which is due to the musical tastes of the season. Both Mrs. Bostwick and Miss Carle are friends of the artists who appeared, and the possibility of the concert was due to this fact.

The many guests had the pleasure, after the concert, of greeting both Miss Bradley and Mr. Lay. The following were the program: "Overture," "Prelude," "Massenet," from "Herodias," Miss Bradley; a group of English songs—"The Sea" by Schaefer; "Fledgling" by Schaefer; "Would God I Were a Tender Apple Blossom" by Fisher; "Inter Nos," McFadden; "Tears of God," Monry; "A Memory," Carey; "Telling Lou," Strickland; "Nobody Knows of Trouble I've Seen," Burleigh; "Homeing," Del Rio, all by Mr. Lay. Miss Bradley gave the following group: "Knappe," "Eucalyptus," "Archie," "DeBussy," "Hobbes," "Hobbes," "Hobbes," "Polonaise," Liszt; "Tango a La American." The following were also given as encores by Mr. Lay: "I Passed by Your Window," "Brake," "Tava Old Fashioned Town," "Squire," "Merry Christmas" and "Christ in Flanders."

It is hoped that Janesville musicians will have more opportunities of hearing music of the class that was presented Saturday night. The large attendance showed that good music will be supported here.

Entertaining for Friends—The three daughters of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Oesch, Vista avenue, who are away attending school, were at home with their parents during the Thanksgiving vacation. They all returned Saturday night, and are attending the State Institute, Miss Evelyn, the Milwaukee Normal, taking kindergarten work, and Miss Dorothy, Lawrence college at Appleton. The three brought home with them a friend, Miss Elizabeth Towne, for whom she is entertaining a small company Friday.

BROTHER DUTTON, WATCHES DISARM MEETING CLOSELY

The world is on the eve of a great day because of the disarmament conference, states Brother Joseph Dutton, formerly of Janesville and now manager of the Baldwin home in the upper colony at Molokai, Hawaii. In his most recent letter, "Now, it is the eve of a great day—the gathering together of great minds in conference to determine methods of defense against great evils that are casting shadows over all lands and peoples. He writes: 'These great men have views and interests so varied that we wonder as to the outcome. If Mr. Harding has just the kind of oil needed to get this intricate machinery working properly, so as to turn out a good product, useful to the world in general, there will hardly be a feather in the air for his pen.'

Brother Dutton enclosed a check for $5 in his letter, requesting that it be used for charity in Janesville. It will be given to the Salvation Army.

Wisconsin, spent the week-end with his father, J. C. Spohn, 618 Chestnut street.

THE PERFECT FOOD IS MILK

Why Is Pure Milk
The Ideal Food?

PURE MILK (such as that produced and distributed by the Merrick Dairy) is our best all-around food. It is the most perfect food we have. There is no substitute for it. Save on other things if you must, but not on MILK. You cannot afford to do without it—growing children need it especially. Buy at least a pint a day for each member of the household, for no other food can take the place of Milk. A glass of Pure Milk contains a mixture of all the important things that make up a mixed diet. Pure Milk is good fuel because it contains fat and sugar and these elements produce bodily energy.

Why Is Merrick Dairy
Milk The Ideal Milk?

BECAUSE Merrick Dairy Milk comes from carefully selected cows. They are fed and housed under ideal conditions. They are frequently and rigidly inspected and tuberculin tested. Every detail in the milking and handling of the milk, its transportation, pasteurization, bottling and delivery are guarded with infinite care. We fully realize the importance of safeguarding the purity of our product at every point. It is this policy which has made and maintained the Merrick Dairy, as the LEADER in this section.

The Anglo-Japanese Alliance

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—Although both the British and the Japanese are still putting forth propaganda on behalf of a renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, it seems to be now the general opinion that it will not be renewed and that its termination will be a great factor in establishing peace on a sound basis in the Far East.
That the Japanese want this alliance and that it would be an advantage to them in the future as it has been in the past is obvious. Japan's career of economic and military imperialism,
which has carried her into Siberia, Manchuria
and China, has been made possible largely by this British support. If this alliance were continued on the same terms, Japan's imperialistic
career could continue and the militaristic forces in that country would be strengthened. If the alliance is genuinely renounced by Great Britain, and Great Britain is genuinely in accord with the United States in Asiatic policy, Japan's imperialistic ambitions will be most effectively curbed.
She will face a combination against which she cannot possibly hope to prevail. The liberal forces in Japan will be strengthened.

This curbing of Japan's militaristic career therefore stands out with increasing clearness as the great object of the conference. The accomplishment will be long step toward international peace, in the opinion of the best-informed observers, provided it can be done without alienating
all Japanese confidence in the western powers.
Japan has survived as a nation solely by reason of her military and naval strength. She has seen every other Asiatic nation exploited and robbed
by autonomy and integrity by the western nations.
Her faith in the big stick is based on logic and experience. That is why even the liberal forces in Japan, really behind the government, are so distantly when an emergency arises. Japan must be convinced therefore, not only that her present course in China, Manchuria and Siberia must be abandoned, but also that her integrity and autonomy and her rights in commerce will be respected. If Japan goes away disgruntled and suspicious, nothing much has been accomplished
for the cause of peace.

It is easy enough to see why Japan wants the alliance with England, but not so easy to see the basis of the English desire for it. The English government originally considered it necessary to offset the menace of Russia to her Asiatic empire. With Russia a great imperialistic power,
Great Britain really needed a strong Asiatic ally.
With Russia out of the game of Empire, she does not need such an ally. Doubtless Japan is still useful to her by doing her naval police work in Asiatic waters, but it has been announced that Great Britain will have an Asiatic fleet of her own in the future, so this work is evidently no longer so entrusted to Japan.

Moreover, Japan is so situated in many quarters, has steadily injured British prestige in China, for the Chinese have no confidence in any power
allied with Japan.

What, then, is the purpose in Asia that Japan and England still have in common? One well-informed observer says that it is a purpose which neither of them can afford to state in public, and which certainly will never be mentioned at the conference. That common purpose is to suppress the rise of democratic ideas in Asia.

JUS FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

EFFORT.
He brought me his report card from the teacher and he was very proud of it and sadly bowed his head.
He was excellent in reading, but arithmetic, was fair.
And I noticed there were several "unsatisfac-
tory's" there;
But one little bit of credit which was given
brought me joy—
He was "excellent in effort," and I fairly hugged
the boy.

"Oh, it doesn't make much difference what is written on your card,"
I told that little fellow, "if you're only trying the 'very good's' and 'excellent's' are fine, I must agree.
But the effort you are making means a whole lot more to me.
And the thing that's most important when this card is put aside
Is to know, in spite of failure, that to do your best you've tried."

"Just keep excellent in effort—All the rest will come to you.
There isn't any problem but some day you'll learn to do.
And at last when you grow older, you will come
to understand.
That by hard and patient toiling men have risen
to command.
And some day you will discover when a greater
goal is at stake.
That better far than brilliance is the effort you will make."

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOUTON.

CITY MAN'S IDEA OF A GOOD TIME.
He is late for dinner and is bawled out.
He waits for his wife to finish her toilette.
He starts for the theater thirty minutes late.
He gets caught in a traffic jam and loses 15 minutes more.
He goes to the theater and finds they have saved
the wrong seats.
He doesn't like the show and argues with his wife.
He goes to a jazz joint and gets a punk table.
He waits an hour for a dollar's worth of food
which costs $10.
He loses his hat in a check and has to identify himself at the office.
He gets put out just when he is beginning to enjoy himself.
He gets out on the street and finds the lights are
all out.
He gets Captain Kidd, Jr., to drive him home
in a taxi.
He wakes up a neighbor and borrows $8 for the taxi fare.
He goes shivering to his apartment and finds the steam off.
He says: "Never again."
He does it all over again.

It might be a good plan to pull the Leviathan
out of the water and turn it into an apartment
house for oppressed tenants.
Why not a conference for the limitation of Swiss minister announces that his country hasn't had a war in 400 years. She must have whiskers?
The last one almost paid for by this time.

You advertised as a chauffeur-maid?
Yes, madam.
"What were your duties the last place?"
I drove and repaired the car.
"Yes—and as maid?"
"And as maid I took down my lady every night
and reassured her in the morning."

Who's Who Today

By J. A. VAN KARNBEEK.

Jonkheer H. A. Van Karnbeek, who heads the Dutch mission at the arms conference, is minister of foreign affairs in Holland, holding an office which in common is holding of the Dutch before him. He has passed his entire life in the service of his government and was for one term minister of the Hague. He speaks English with fluency. He presided over the deliberations of the council of the league of nations in London. He is credited with vision, statesmanship and tact.
He is best known in Europe
perhaps, for his absolute
refusal to permit the extradition from Holland of the ex-gaoler and the ex-
convict, holding that they were not criminals, but were all against the surroundings of any political refugees who had sought sanctuary in Holland.

State Press Comment

The Burlington Republican Journal notes that gold has been discovered at Prospect and that 1800 acres are to be prospected. There is not enough yet to seriously affect the gold supply
of the world.
The Elkhorn Independent is mournful over the loss of a glacial lake on the edge of the park. It has been dead for some time and was cut into firedwood. This is the ninth one of the natural old park trees to be cut in seven years.

H. L. Hoard, editor of the Jefferson County
Union has an ingenious argument as to why
the Elkhorn Independent should not be prospected. He says: "A big share of the profit cheated with new liquor at saloons, when they paid the price for old liquor. The saloons killed themselves, not by selling good liquor, but by selling bad liquor. There are two or three light cases of small-pox, but they have all been isolated."

LOOKING BACKWARD

Forty Years Ago

Nov. 28, 1881.—Guy Carter, well-known
citizen of Janesville, died yesterday morning.
—Physicians of the board of health have issued a statement in which they say that there is no cause for fear in the city because of scarlet fever or small-pox. There are two or three light cases of small-pox, but they have all been
isolated.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Nov. 28, 1891.—Thermometers stood at four degrees below zero this morning.—A. E. Eberly escaped death last night. They were working in the kitchen with a gasoline stove for heating when the fumes from the stove overcame them and they fell to the floor. A daughter discovered them before long and saved them.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Nov. 28, 1901.—A bad head-on collision
occurred Wednesday night when two Northwestern trains collided at cross-roads north of Koshkonong. Although the engines were badly smashed up, none were injured. The accident was caused by wrong orders given at Oshkosh.—A bad train wreck occurred in Michigan yesterday. More than 100 were killed.

TEN YEARS AGO

Nov. 28, 1911.—The city council met last night and fixed the salary of the city scaler at $200. Below pays its scaler $500.—Prices have been reduced for Thanksgiving. Turkey costs 20 cents a pound, geese a shilling, ducks 15 and chickens a shilling. Cranberries are 10 cents a pound.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

THE DIET OF A NON-AGENAIAN

Old man from Missouri writes:
"I will be 91 years old in a few months. Can you give me a few hints about food—what kind of food
I should eat in order to enjoy my prolong life? What food and drink
I should take if you were in my place in respect to age?"

If I were 90-odd I'd enjoy—
But see here, my good friend from Missouri, wouldn't it be more logical,
first, for you to tell me what kind of food I should eat in order to attain the age of 90, still in possession of all my sense like yourself? I'd like to hear from a few who have actually done it. What their views and practices have been, please, of the state
of their physical and mental powers
may be now.

If I were 90 I think I'd enjoy a light breakfast of some kind of fruit, raw fresh fruit in season, stewed or cooked fruit out of season, with a slice of buttered toast and a cup of unboiled coffee. Then I'd eat nothing more until 7 p. m., when I should indulge in a baked pudding to taste,
three days a week only, a relish or salad or fresh green vegetable from the garden, and a pint of milk with some fruit or other food, and a cup of tea, instead of milk sometimes.
That amounts to one and a half meals a day, ample for a lad of 90.

The late reverend Sir William Osler quotes with approval the thirteenth aphorism of George Chryse.
Chryse was born in 1671 in Scotland,
but in spite of that he ate so much that he weighed 485 pounds at the age of 70, was fat, healthy and short of breath. Then he began to have better sense and dieted on milk and vegetables. He even began to exercise and to do exercises, being, you know,
and you believe it, I don't myself,
though Chryse vouches for it, the man reduced to 150 pounds, remained vigilant and lived to the age of 90.
For those days, extraordinary age of 75 years, long enough to write a classic on health and long life. The thirteenth aphorism therein, which Osler quotes, is this:

"Every wise man, after 50, ought to begin to lessen at least the quantity of his aliment, and if he would continue free of great and dangerous diseases, he should decrease his food and faculties clear to the last, he ought every seven years go on absting gradually and sensibly, and at last descend out of life as he descended into it, and leave the child's diet."
Do not be confused by that idea of "abstaining" every seven years. Things generally went by seven in those days, nearly everybody having the itch.
